Community Boggled Down in Snow --- More To Come

ONE OF HUNDREDS stuck in the snows that all but paralyzed traffic in the county Thursday is this unfortunate motorist. His pickup truck is mixed solidly in the piled-up snow on Main Street, right alongside the Court House (right background.) The snow was still falling to add to his troubles, too as those streaks across the picture prove. (Record-Herald photo)

Get out the snowshoes, chillun, here's more snow on the way! Weather forecasters couldn't agree Thursday morning as to just how much was coming. But the snow that had come by then was enough to close all schools in Fayette County outside of Washington C. H.

Many residents of Washington C. H. abandoned the idea of driving to work and trudged off on foot, expecting the worst. Those who did drive were having trouble Thursday morning getting out of parking places at noon.

Although road crews were out and working—the state highway department crews here started 2 A.

M. Thursday—the sheriff's office reported road conditions as "really bad."

You may wind up in a snowbank if you do. There is a thin layer of ice under that heap of snow in many places.

The weather bureau report received through the Associated Press forecast snow Thursday and Thursday night, with 2 to 4 inches in the central and south portions of the state and a temperature low of 20 to 26 degrees above zero.

The official forecast to highway Department stations, however, was even less hopeful. That forecast called for between 5 and 8 inches of snow by 6 P. M. Thursday. And road crews have been warned that snow is expected all Thursday night and all day Friday.

The Wilmington State Highway Patrol station warned of rain, snow and sleet with an accumulation up to 4 inches and a temperature range between 18 and 47 degrees.

The Union Bus Station here reported that bus connections from Cincinnati to here are about an hour slow, with roads in bad condition between here and there.

But from Columbus there has been no trouble keeping the bus schedule, it was said.

The U. S. Post Office here reported Thursday that rural mail carriers were on their way to the outlying areas with the day's mail, but by noon none had reported back. Carriers were 45 minutes to over an hour late at that time.

Post Office officials were banking that "with the aid of tire chains, the grace of God" and perhaps an occasional push the carriers would live up to the well-known motto, "Neither rain, snow, sleet nor gloom stay these carriers from the completion of their appointed rounds."

Fighting the weather are state, county and city crews. As far as can be determined, most roads, with the possible exception of outlying sideroads, are "passable." But none of them is in good condition.

Plows and graders were on the job Thursday, but a plow doesn't scrape clean. And only basic intersections and bridges were being salted, since the salt does little good when snow piles up on top of it.

The State Highway Department crews started work at 2 A. M. Thursday according to timekeeper Stanley Helfrich. There were seven crews on the job, all working since Thursday morning. State equipment includes 10 trucks, eight plows and one large grader. They

Truman Declares Chiang Stalls Major Effort For Peace In China

WASHINGTON (P) — Ex-President Truman says he is sure China could be a free, unified country today but for Chiang Kai-shek's refusal to accept a peaceful agreement with the Communists.

He says the Chinese generalissimo's "attitudes and actions were those of an old-fashioned warlord, and, as with warlords, there was no love for him among the people."

In a new installment of his memoirs, appearing in Life magazine today, the former President says perhaps Chiang's greatest mistake was failing to heed

Gen. George C. Marshall's advice when Truman sent Marshall on a "peace" mission in 1946.

Truman blames "extremists" on the Communist side as well in the Nationalist camp for the failure to reach an agreement. He adds:

"There is no doubt in my mind that if Chiang had been only a little more conciliatory, an understanding could have been reached. Chiang would not heed the advice of one of the greatest strategists in history and as a result lost to the Communist."

Marshall's hope was to get a coalition government formed but Truman says Marshall was unable, in the end, to persuade Chiang:

(1) Military force wasn't the answer to his problem, and (2) he would lose to the Communists if he insisted on waging war against them.

Truman contends that if a coalition had been formed, there was no reason Chiang couldn't have won out over the Reds in the long run just as various non-Communist governments in Western Europe have done—if he "attended to the fundamental needs of the people and the country."

Truman stirs the embers of some old personal feuds, with Bernard M. Baruch and Patrick J. Hurley, in his article.

He said he had to make it plain "in a very polite way" to elder statesman Baruch that the President and not Baruch would decide what the latter's duties should be in preparing the international atomic energy control proposals which became known as the "Baruch plan."

Actually, Truman says, Baruch's main contribution was putting into final form the ideas of others, chiefly Dean Acheson, then under-secretary of state, and David E. Lilienthal, then chairman of the Tennessee Valley Administration.

In New York, Baruch replied with a statement challenging Truman's version and asserted that "history will show no basis for this display of personal spite."

As for Hurley, Truman says the onetime general made an "utterly inexplicable" attack on the administration, and on him personally, less than two hours after promising the President he would leave for China shortly to make another peace-seeking try.

Truman said he was all set to fire Hurley when the general quit. That's how it happened that Truman brought Marshall out of retirement late in 1945 and sent him on the China mission.

All Schools Here Closed

With roads and streets becoming increasingly dangerous and the snow continuing to pile up and make them almost impassable, Supt. W. A. Smith announced Thursday afternoon that the Washington C. H. schools would be closed Friday.

The decision to hold no classes Friday was reached about the same time that it was decided to dismiss Thursday's classes early to give the pupils more time to get home — and to get them started before the snow got deeper.

The basketball game between the Lions of WHS and Hillsboro's Indians slated for here Friday night also has been postponed.

Although there have been no official announcements (since all the schools were closed), the general impression was that the county, high school basketball games also would be postponed.

License for Guide Dog Given To Blind Woman; First Issued in County

After 28 years without sight, Mrs. Vesper Hicks received a substitute—a guide dog—a few months back.

Wednesday Fayette County contributed to the aid of the sightless mother—and since Sunday a grandmother—when County Auditor Harry Allen presented a special license to Mrs. Hicks for her dog.

The license has a big number on it, signifying that this is the first such special license given in Fayette County. It was literally given to Mrs. Hicks, sent by the State of Ohio to Fayette County free of charge because so few were expected to be used here.

Mrs. Hicks, smiling and pleased with the gift of a license what will be good for the life of the dog, said "my county really shows Christianity towards me."

While she talked to County Auditor Harry Allen, her dog Duke Jewell, a thoroughbred, prize-winning two-year old Boxer, lay quietly at her feet.

He was wearing a khaki dog blanket under the special harness used by blind persons when walking with guide dogs.

It's taken training for both Duke and Mrs. Hicks to get them to the point where the pair can come to the center of town unaided, training that lasted a good year for Duke and solid month

But He Says He's Undecided On 2nd Term

President's Decision To Be Based On What Is Good For Country

WASHINGTON (P) — President Eisenhower said today he has no objection to entry of his name in the New Hampshire or presidential primaries in other states. But said he still has not made up his mind whether to run for a second term.

Eisenhower told a jammed news conference that he will announce his decision "as soon as it is firmly fixed in my own mind."

He added: "I shall strive to see that it is based as to my best judgment on the good of our country."

Anticipating a barrage of political questions at this first Washington meeting with newsmen since last Aug. 4, Eisenhower came to today's conference with a prepared statement dealing with his future.

It was in the form of an official reply to formal notice that his name has been entered in the March 13 New Hampshire presidential primary, the nation's first.

It was a whopping victory in New Hampshire which gave Eisenhower his first big boost toward the Republican presidential nomination four years ago.

IN ADDITION to the New Hampshire primary, his name already has been entered this year in the one to be held in Illinois April 10. Petitions by New Hampshire citizens entered Eisenhower's name in that state.

Here is the text of Eisenhower's telegram to the New Hampshire secretary of state, which he read at his news conference:

"I have your courteous telegram of January fourteenth, advising me that petitions have been filed at your office which qualify my name for inclusion on the presidential preference primary ballot of the Republican party in the State of New Hampshire.

"Naturally, I am deeply gratified that the petitioners have expressed this kind of personal confidence in me. I do not feel that I should interpose any objection to such entry.

"However, because I must make clear to all that lack of objection cannot be construed as any final decision on my part relative to a candidacy for a second term in the office I now hold, I hope that all who vote in the Republican primaries in 1956 will carefully weigh all the possibilities and personalities that may be involved.

"Freedom to select, nominate and elect a candidate to public office is basic to our American political system. Because I deeply believe that every citizen should have the widest possible choice in expressing his own preference in such matters, I would hope that the accident of my illness and the necessary period for determining the degree of my recovery would not have the effect of interfering with the privilege of every member of our party to express his preference for the presidential candidate of his choice.

"It would be idle to pretend that my health can be wholly restored to the excellent state in which the doctors believed it to be in mid-September. At the same time, my doctors report to me that the progress I am making toward a reasonable level of strength is normal and satisfactory. My future life must be carefully regulated to avoid excessive fatigue. My reasons for obedience to the medical authorities are not solely personal.

1,000 Parakeets Die in Flames

A thousand parakeets died in the flames early Thursday morning when fire broke out in a parakeet house on the Willard Sears farm at Parrott Station.

The 30 by 20 foot building housed the birds which Sears valued at about $3,000. The birds were not insured.

The fire was reported about 4:30 A. M., Sears said, when a passer-by, Lester LeMaster of Bookwalter, spotted flames shooting out of the building.

Le Master, on his way to work in Dayton, had lost his home in a fire less than two months ago. His house burned to the ground Nov. 27 destroying all his families' clothing, furniture and other belongings.

Le Master and Sears fought the fire with small hand extinguishers and when those were exhausted, used large soda-acid extinguishers brought by Kenneth Mickle, a neighbor on the Parrott Station Road.

Sears, Le Master and Mickle had the fire under control when the fire department arrived just before 5 A. M. Chief Funk said. The firemen made short work of the remaining flames, confined by then to the eaves under the metal roof.

"That metal roof probably saved the building," Chief Funk said later. The fire may have been touched off by a fuel oil stove in the building, he said.

As soon as the last sparks had been extinguished, the fire fighters went into the building to see how the parakeets had fared. All were dead.

"They were lying around in there like dead flies," Chief Funk said. "I guess the heat and the fumes killed them."

This interesting story on manners, taken from the Miami (Fla.) Herald, concerns Eddie Rose, son of Dr. and Mrs. James E. Rose of Washington C. H.

The Rose family was in Miami for the Orange Bowl Game. Although Dr. and Mrs. Rose enjoyed the game, since they were Oklahoma rooters, they were more impressed by some sage observations on adult conduct, offered by their son, Eddie.

Eddie is 11 years old and his parents have been trying to teach him the importance of good manners. "I wish you had never taught me any manners!" he told his mother after returning from a lunch stand between halves. "Adults don't have any!"

He related that "everyone started shoving and reaching over my head" and that by the time he finally got up to the counter and got his hot dog, the half time was ended.

"I'll take my chances with teenagers any time," Eddie told his mother. "They don't act like that, they take turns."

Adults do forget their manners when they get in front of a crowded lunch stand, a busy counter in a store, or lined up for a crowded bus. You keep on minding your manners, Eddie, no matter how the grownups act. That's more important than a hot dog.

Pay Boost Slated for Teachers At First Miami Trace Board Meet

Sweeping pay raises were in prospect today for teachers and other employees of the Miami Trace school district.

Salaries are "definitely" due for adjustment throughout the district, members of the Miami Trace Trace board decided Tuesday evening at their first regular meeting since they were sworn in.

"The board definitely decided on an adjustment of salary schedules for teachers and other employees," announced Supt. W. W. Boyer. "We are not ready to announce what they will be, but they will be retroactive to the first of January."

Pay scales now in effect are on varying levels throughout the system, he explained. The Miami Trace district only last month brought in the last three of the county schools, so the district now includes all the schools in Fayette County, with the exception of those in Washington C. H.

Teachers in five schools are on a "high schedule," Supt. Boyer said. Salaries of other teachers and of all other school employees—including janitors, cooks and bus drivers—will be adjusted "toward that high schedule," he said.

The five schools he named are Wilson, Chaffin, Eber, Staunton and Milledgeville. "Teachers in those schools are on the high schedule," Supt. Boyer explained, "but other employees are not necessarily on it."

Because of the differing salary rates in the various schools, not all school employees will get more pay, but none will get less, he said.

THE BOARD'S discussion of the salary adjustments took up so much of its scheduled meeting time that such routine business as bill-paying was squeezed off the docket.

Since the "absolutely necessary" adoption of an appropriations resolution also was bypassed, the board will meet again as soon as the weather permits, Supt. Boyer said.

Aside from the discussion of salary boosts, the only other business handled by the board was an examination of insurance

Man Wins Court Case But Nearly Loses Pants

Richard William Hunter of Columbus was awarded damages of $25,000 for injuries received in an automobile collision . . . but he almost lost his pants in the process.

Donald Eugene Howell of Coshocton, who failed to appear at the hearing of the case, was ordered by Judge John P. Case of the common pleas court and the jury here to pay the full amount sought by Hunter in his suit.

Hunter's embarrassing predicament came about when his attorney, Richard Huggard of Columbus, told him to drop his trousers down so the jury could see the 12-inch scar on his hip and leg.

Obedient and cooperative client that he was, Hunter blushing complied . . . but things got out of control unexpectedly and when he seemed in danger of losing his pants completely, Judge Case went to his rescue.

While Hunter was snatching and grabbing for his slipping apparel, Judge Case was down off the bench quickly and the status quo and dignity of the court was soon restored.

By assisting Hunter in holding his trousers up and also pulling up

Hunter's shirt tail, Judge Case and Hunter displayed the huge scar to the jury without revealing much additional anatomy of the embarrassed plaintiff.

Hunter also, at the request of Huggard, removed one shoe and his sock and showed his deformed and scarred foot, another injury sustained in the traffic crash for which the Coshocton man was held responsible.

Apparently the scars and general condition of Hunter, coupled with the convincing testimony offered in the support of his claims for damage, made a profound impression upon the jury; for, after being out 30 minutes, it returned a verdict for Hunter for the full $25,000 asked.

So far as recalled here, the verdict is the largest for personal injuries ever returned in Fayette County.

Howell, the defendant in the case, failed to appear to contest the case. Reports indicate that he carried no insurance and has no property of consequence.

However, it seems that under the law when a defendant can not pay a judgment returned against him breeding stock, Sears said. He set their value at $2,000. The other 500 were stock for sales and were worth $1,000 he said.

Sears said he had sold most of his birds at wholesale, occasionally buying additional birds from other breeders to fill large orders.

"We usually have a big backlog of orders," he said, "but right now, we were about caught up."

Sears started breeding canaries about nine years ago. He later branched into raising finches, cockatiels and parakeets. Last year, he dropped all but parakeets and was concentrating on raising them for the wholesale market.

"I think maybe I'll get back in the business," he said shortly after the fire. "But right this morning it looks pretty dark."

Man Wins Court Case But Nearly Loses Pants

Richard William Hunter of Columbus was awarded damages of $25,000 for injuries received in an automobile collision . . . but he almost lost his pants in the process.

Donald Eugene Howell of Coshocton, who failed to appear at the hearing of the case, was ordered by Judge John P. Case of the common pleas court and the jury here to pay the full amount sought by Hunter in his suit.

Hunter's embarrassing predicament came about when his attorney, Richard Huggard of Columbus, told him to drop his trousers down so the jury could see the 12-inch scar on his hip and leg.

Obedient and cooperative client that he was, Hunter blushing complied . . . but things got out of control unexpectedly and when he seemed in danger of losing his pants completely, Judge Case went to his rescue.

While Hunter was snatching and grabbing for his slipping apparel, Judge Case was down off the bench quickly and the status quo and dignity of the court was soon restored.

By assisting Hunter in holding his trousers up and also pulling up

Hunter's shirt tail, Judge Case and Hunter displayed the huge scar to the jury without revealing much additional anatomy of the embarrassed plaintiff.

Hunter also, at the request of Huggard, removed one shoe and his sock and showed his deformed and scarred foot, another injury sustained in the traffic crash for which the Coshocton man was held responsible.

Apparently the scars and general condition of Hunter, coupled with the convincing testimony offered in the support of his claims for damage, made a profound impression upon the jury; for, after being out 30 minutes, it returned a verdict for Hunter for the full $25,000 asked.

So far as recalled here, the verdict is the largest for personal injuries ever returned in Fayette County.

Howell, the defendant in the case, failed to appear to contest the case. Reports indicate that he carried no insurance and has no property of consequence.

However, it seems that under the law when a defendant can not pay a judgment returned against him

Meanderings

By Wash Fayette

This interesting story on manners, taken from the Miami (Fla.) Herald, concerns Eddie Rose, son of Dr. and Mrs. James E. Rose of Washington C. H.

The Rose family was in Miami for the Orange Bowl Game. Although Dr. and Mrs. Rose enjoyed the game, since they were Oklahoma rooters, they were more impressed by some sage observations on adult conduct, offered by their son, Eddie.

Eddie is 11 years old and his parents have been trying to teach him the importance of good manners.

"I wish you had never taught me any manners!" he told his mother after returning from a lunch-stand between halves. "Adults don't have any!"

He related that "everyone started shoving and reaching over my head" and that by the time he finally got up to the counter and got his hot dog, the half time was ended.

"I'll take my chances with teenagers any time," Eddie told his mother. "They don't act like that, they take turns."

Adults do forget their manners when they get in front of a crowded lunch stand, a busy counter in a store, or lined up for a crowded bus. You keep on minding your manners, Eddie, no matter how the grownups act. That's more important than a hot dog.

Kids Entertain PTO At New Martinsburg

A variety show put on by half a dozen youngsters was a highlight of the January meeting of the New Martinsburg PTO.

During the business session, members voted to make several purchases for the school, including crushed stone for the schoolyard, a globe and minor supplies. The total cost of the projects will be about $80.

The PTO also voted to hold a Valentine's Day party for the kids. Mrs. C. A. Wilson and Mrs. Junior Wilson will be in charge of planning the party for the children in the first four grades, while Mrs. Frank McCoppin and Mrs. Jack Thompson will arrange details of the party for the fifth through eighth graders.

The president, Mrs. Floyd Hopes, led the business meeting.

The program opened with a tap dance by Barbara Creamer, with accompaniment by Irma Clickner. Becky McCoppin followed up with a vocal solo and then teamed up with Barney Creamer for a duet.

Dixie Clay and Vera Palmer sang a pair of duets and then everyone got into the act during a group singing session that wound up the meeting.

The program was set up by a committee whose members were Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCoppin, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Roush and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wing.

Extension Course Class Postponed

With snow piling up on highways already hazardous, the class in the extension course on methods for teaching the slow learning child has been postponed from Thursday (tonight) night until next Thursday night, Jan. 26.

The postponement of the class for a week was announced by Supt. W. A. Smith after he had received a call from Miami University, which sponsors the course, saying the teacher would not be able to make the trip here from Oxford through the snow-clogged roads. Classes in this course are held once a week. Those taking the course are teachers.

The test which was to have been given at tonight's meeting of the class is to be given next Thursday night, Supt. Smith said he was told.

plans presented by three Washington C. H. insurance agencies, the Parrett, Korn and Mohr agencies.

The plans would cover the $1,500,000 valuation of buildings, equipment, buses and other property in the district, Supt. Boyer said. "That can amount to quite a tax bill," he commented. "The board is going to take time to examine the plans."

Supt. Boyer explained that the Miami Trace board had been working toward a five-year insurance plan before the addition of the Paint, Bloomingburg and Jeffersonville schools to the system.

A new plan then became necessary, he said. The insurance plans formerly in effect at each individual school must be combined into a single plan, since too many of the premiums come due at the same time, he added.

Present at the meeting were President Taylor Groff and Richard Snyder, returning members of the board; three new members, Vice President Robert Owens, Gordon Cowdery and J. Herbert Perrell, and Supt. Boyer.

Held in the Miami Trace offices in the Wilson School building, the meeting was adjourned after midnight. The original plan was to reconvene Thursday evening, but the heavy snowfall Thursday may postpone continuation of the meeting.

The accident in which Hunter was seriously injured occurred on the CCC Highway seven miles east of Washington C. H., on March 11, 1953, when Howell, allegedly fell asleep. His car crossed the center line and met Hunter's car head-on.

The jury returned the verdict about 1:55 P. M. Wednesday.

as result of a traffic accident, his license plates are confiscated by the state and he loses his driving rights for life, or until he satisfies the judgment against him.

The accident in which Hunter was seriously injured occurred on the CCC Highway seven miles east of Washington C. H., on March 11, 1953, when Howell, allegedly fell asleep. His car crossed the center line and met Hunter's car head-on.

The jury returned the verdict about 1:55 P. M. Wednesday.

The Question Of Adjusting Price Supports

There is no doubt that Fayette County farmers are as much interested in the present controversial issue over farm supports and proposed policies affecting the agricultural situation in the county, as in any of the various matters which from now on will be claiming public attention in this big election year of 1956.

Also there can be no doubt that there is much difference of opinion on what should be done, in this county and elsewhere over the nation.

There are so many angles to this whole question, such as the huge surplus of farm products, for which the government has been paying big sums with tax money, that the far sighted and thinking farmer recognizes that there is something much bigger than a mere partisan political issue involved.

It is easy for certain politicians to make demands that the government should go back to "big government hand-out" methods, but even they must recognize that past experience under such plans has by no means brought a solution. That idea of simply continuing to give away huge sums of money and thus make votes temporarily, does not prevent the coming of a serious "day of reckoning".

It must be recognized that reliable government reports show that some farmers have been doing better than "pretty well" despite the drop in farm prices.

For instance, one Mississippi cotton grower received a government loan of $1,292,472 on a single year's cotton crop, although all loans on cotton averaged only $268 each. The largest wheat loan last year was received by a Montana grower — $430,691. The largest corn loan went to an Iowa tiller of the soil, who received $179,127; while a Louisiana rice grower obtained a government loan of $486,726 on his crop. Most—if not all — of the farm products upon which the loans were made went into storage to add to our huge government-owned surpluses.

Plans are being made to distribute more of the government-owned food surpluses for relief purposes, and to distressed areas—both at home and abroad — during 1956. However, the over-all effect of such expanded relief programs will not greatly reduce the huge surpluses of government-owned foodstuffs now in storage. Among the scores of suggestions from many sources the thought advanced by a Democratic senator, W. K. Scott of North Carolina, has been given consideration in various parts of the country. He proposed a system of what he terms "adjusting price supports".

The system is designed somewhat along the lines of the federal income tax. All farmers would get one hundred percent of parity for crops up to a certain amount. Then, they would get a small percentage of parity support on the next fixed amount of production.

The government price support percentage would decline as the quantity of crops increased, under this system. The advantage of this plan is that it would protect the small farmer and guarantee him a good price.

The large farmer, who would stand to make tremendous profits from one hundred percent parity price supports, would not be encouraged to plant unlimited acres to get such support. On the contrary, he would get only as much top parity price support as would his smaller neighbor.

The adjustment to a lesser support price would continue down to sixty percent of parity, which would, in the case of wheat, mean that a farmer who produced 4,500 bushels of wheat would only get sixty percent of parity price support on all that above the 4,500 bushels.

In the case of cotton, the same general plan would be followed.

To a good many people, including farmers, this idea has been talked about and is receiving some consideration. Whether it will become a part of a new agricultural policy, is a question. If we are to continue the price support system many people think that there is merit in this proposal.

It would tend to prevent the huge acreage farmers from flooding the markets and would be of benefit to the smaller farmers.

This idea may not be the final answer on farm problems, and might need considerable changing, but many of those studying the situation believe that the principle involved is a sound one; that it would work fairly for all and restore a better balance to the rural areas of the United States, something now very much in demand.

Marilyn Monroe Unwanted

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP)—Could Marilyn Monroe walk into the average American business office and land a job as a secretary? No, siree, mister, she couldn't, not if you take the word of the nation's businessmen.

A survey of leading executives on what they look for in a secretary, made by Carl Ray, research vice president of the Underwood Corp., placed personal charm way down on the list of desirable attributes. As a matter of fact, it ranked seventh.

"Forty-six per cent of the bosses indicated they wanted initiative more than anything else in a secretary," Ray said.

Why don't they place a higher premium on glamour in hiring a lady typewriter jockey?

Ray conceded the executives were ruled partly by their fears—fear of what their wife would say, fear that a two-pretty secretary would distract the other office hands, but added:

"On a more positive basis, however, it's worth noting that secretaries today have to be executive assistants rather than just a plain old-fashioned secretary. What bosses really want is somebody who can mind the store while they're gone."

The sampling showed opinion

was divided on the question of whether single or married women make the best secretaries.

"Twenty-four per cent of the bosses stated a preference for single girls, 20 per cent preferred married secretaries, and the rest expressed no choice," Ray said.

One executive wrote, "The married woman is not concerned with whimsy and dating. She does a better job." Another philosophized thusly: "It's really not important. If a girl is single today, she'll get married eventually anyway."

After initiative, the employers rated secretarial virtues in this order: The ability to type quickly and accurately, the ability to file and find information speedily, a winning telephone manner, punctuality and personal neatness.

Many older secretaries have complained it is difficult for them to land a new job after 40, and almost impossible after 50. The poll showed considerable justification for their complaint.

None of the businessmen came out for bobby-soxers as secretaries. But 48 per cent said they preferred to hire a secretary "somewhere between 20 and 40 years old." Another 27 per cent stipulated she had to be between the ages of 30 and 40.

The magic age for a secretary today would seem to be 30.

"Right now I consider the ideal age to be between 25 and 35," wrote a New York sales executive. "But if I were 80 I might say the ideal age were 60, or maybe 20!"

What are the pet peeves of executives against their "favorite girl Friday?"

The chief sins of secretaries the poll showed, are these: Some take too many coffee breaks place too many personal phone calls at the office, take part in office gossip, or simply indulge in too much plain old feminine yakkety yak.

But the biggest trouble with secretaries was voiced by an unhappy Los Angeles businessman who said:

"They quit." None of the executives, of course, took a lie detector test or a truth serum. Therefore I rather doubt that if Marilyn Monroe showed up in any of their offices looking for a job she would be turned away empty-handed.

The tired businessman isn't that tired.

Who Benefits Most By Marriage?

By George Sokolsky

Like all Americans, I read in the newspapers that Grace Kelly, of the Philadelphia Kellys, is to be married to Rainer Grimaldi, called "His Serene Highness," which may be the style in Europe but here everybody is just plain mister except a congressman who calls himself "honorable" — a word about which Shakespeare said the last word.

Some of my colleagues are trying to make a Cinderella story out of this but the facts reject the notion. Grimaldi gets less than $150,000 a year from the gambling joint at Monte Carlo. The gambling house brings in enough dough to cover all the expenses of Monaco, so the citizens pay no taxes. That makes the Prince very popular. Any ruler is popular if the people pay no taxes.

Grace's father started as a bricklayer in Philadelphia. He saw his chance and eventually became a contractor and went into Democratic politics. Despite the fact that Philadelphia was then a Republican city, the combination was good and John B. Kelly cleaned up. He is now regarded as a very rich man, a prince of contractors. Grace makes a lot of money in Hollywood as a movie star. John B. Kelly once got the heave-ho from the British because he had laid bricks for a living, whereas Winston Churchill, when he had nothing to do, laid bricks for pleasure. Anyhow in Philadelphia and thereabouts, John B. Kelly is regarded as a gentleman and belongs to a country club. If Grace continues to make pictures, she can earn more than the Prince earns renting the gambling house at Monte Carlo.

So, there is no Cinderella, but just an American success story, and Mr. Grimaldi is doing very well by himself, marrying into the Philadelphia Kellys and we all wish them luck and hope they have a big family, so the decadent French do not grab off the gambling house which they have a contract to do provided there are no descendants.

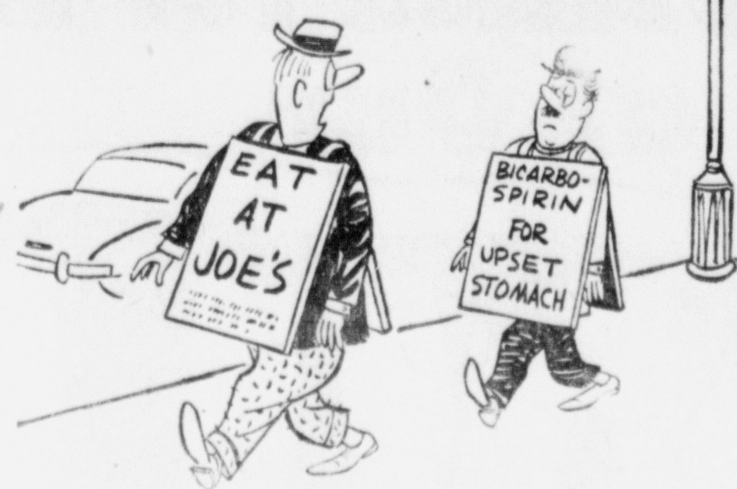

Grimaldi comes from an Italian family from Genoa which is famous because there Christopher Columbus was born. The Grimaldis got jobs in Genoa and Monaco which was, in the middle ages, a good port for pirates. In the 14th century, Charles I, of the Grimaldi family, bought the claims of the Spinola family to Monaco. The Grimaldis generally were associated with France, but when it paid them, they switched around, Augustin Grimaldi in 1524 ally himself to Charles V, Honoré I, Augustin Grimaldi's successor, was made Marquis of Campagna and Count of Canosa and the family could tax ships that passed the port and they got other privileges. In 1641, they threw off the Spanish yoke and went back to the French yoke and the rulers of Monaco called themselves Dukes of Valentinois. They also strengthened themselves by marriages.

The French revolution hit the Grimaldis hard because France grabbed Monaco in 1793. However, the Grimaldis got the place back in 1814, and finally, in 1860, when Nice was transferred to France from Sardinia, the Grimaldis came under French protection. By the deal with France, the Prince of Monaco must always be a married man, which is just as well.

Monaco is a small place about eight square miles which is smaller than Philadelphia which is 129.7 square miles. In this eight square miles are three towns, Monaco, Condamine and Monte Carlo where the gambling

Reasons Are Many For Crying By Baby

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
Don't worry about your wailing infant. He won't cry forever; it only seems like forever.

Although most new born babies cry more than you think is necessary, they generally will quiet down and become happier by the age of six to ten weeks.

Several Reasons

A very young baby must cry. Nature gave him the power to wail for several reasons.

First of all, he must expand his lungs during the first few days of life. Then, too, crying is the baby's only means of communicating with you.

Of course he'll cry when he's hungry. Since he becomes hungry at irregular intervals, you shouldn't maintain a rigid feeding schedule. Regulation of a schedule on a four-hour basis usually isn't advisable until he's from six to ten weeks old.

Crying Infant

Even if you fed a crying infant every ten minutes, he still wouldn't stop whimpering. If he is not hungry or wet, his cries probably mean:

"Mother, I want to be held and loved and assured that you want me."

Along about the age of six or ten weeks, a baby's overall schedule is better regulated.

He is able to see and hear with a little understanding. He follows your movements with his eyes. He turns his head at a nearby noise. He becomes more interested in his surroundings. Because there are things to keep him interested, he's happier and loses much of his desire for crying.

A Night's Sleep

About this time I think you'll be a bit happier, too. Both you and the old man will get a night's sleep without being awakened by the bawling of your know who. And those loud shrieks won't summon you quite so often from your daytime chores.

So, new mothers, don't despair. Things won't always be so hectic.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

D. N. C.: What is osteoporosis and how can it be treated?
Answer: Osteoporosis is the loss of vital minerals, particularly calcium, in bones.

It may occur with old age, with disuse of a limb, and in women passing through the menopause. Usually, the giving of a combination of male and female hormones along with an adequate diet and calcium and phosphorus preparations will correct this disease.

Well, that is what Grace Kelly is getting into. They tell me that one American gai who got into the your highness set wants folks who are to dine with her in a restaurant to stand at the door waiting her arrival. That is not the way Americans live and here in this country we do not recognize titles.

The Question Of Adjusting Price Supports

There is no doubt that Fayette County farmers are as much interested in the present controversial issue over farm supports and proposed policies affecting the agricultural situation in the country, as in any of the various matters which from now on will be claiming public attention in this big election year of 1956.

Also there can be no doubt that there is much difference of opinion on what should be done, in this county and elsewhere over the nation.

There are so many angles to this whole question, such as the huge surplus of farm products, for which the government has been paying big sums with tax money, that the far sighted and thinking farmer recognizes that there is something much bigger than a mere partisan political issue involved.

It is easy for certain politicians to make demands that the government should go back to "big government hand-out" methods, but even they must recognize that past experience under such plans has by no means brought a solution. That idea of simply continuing to give away huge sums of money and thus make votes temporarily, does not prevent the coming of a serious "day of reckoning".

It must be recognized that reliable government reports show that some farmers have been doing better than "pretty well" despite the drop in farm prices.

For instance, one Mississippi cotton grower received a government loan of $1,292,472 on a single year's cotton crop, although all loans on cotton averaged only $268 each. The largest wheat loan last year was received by a Montana grower—$430,691. The largest corn loan went to an Iowa tiller of the soil, who received $179,127; while a Louisiana rice grower obtained a government loan of $486,726 on his crop. Most—if not all—of the farm products upon which the loans were made went into storage to add to our huge government-owned surpluses.

Plans are being made to distribute more of the government-owned food surpluses for relief purposes, and to distressed areas—both at home and abroad—during 1956. However, the over-all effect of such expanded relief programs will not greatly reduce the huge surpluses of government-owned foodstuffs now in storage.

Among the scores of suggestions from many sources the thought advanced by a Democratic senator, W. K. Scott of North Carolina, has been given consideration in various parts of the country. He proposed a system of what he terms "adjusting price supports".

The system is designed somewhat along the lines of the federal income tax. All farmers would get one hundred percent of parity for crops up to a certain amount. Then, they would get a small percentage of parity support on the next fixed amount of production.

The government price support percentage would decline as the quantity of crops increased, under this system. The advantage of this plan is that it would protect the small farmer and guarantee him a good price.

The large farmer, who would stand to make tremendous profits from one hundred percent parity price supports, would not be encouraged to plant unlimited acres to get such support. On the contrary, he would get only as much top parity price support as would his smaller neighbor.

The adjustment to a lesser support price would continue down to sixty percent of parity, which would, in the case of wheat, mean that a farmer who produced 4,500 bushels of wheat would only get sixty percent of parity price support on all that above the 4,500 bushels.

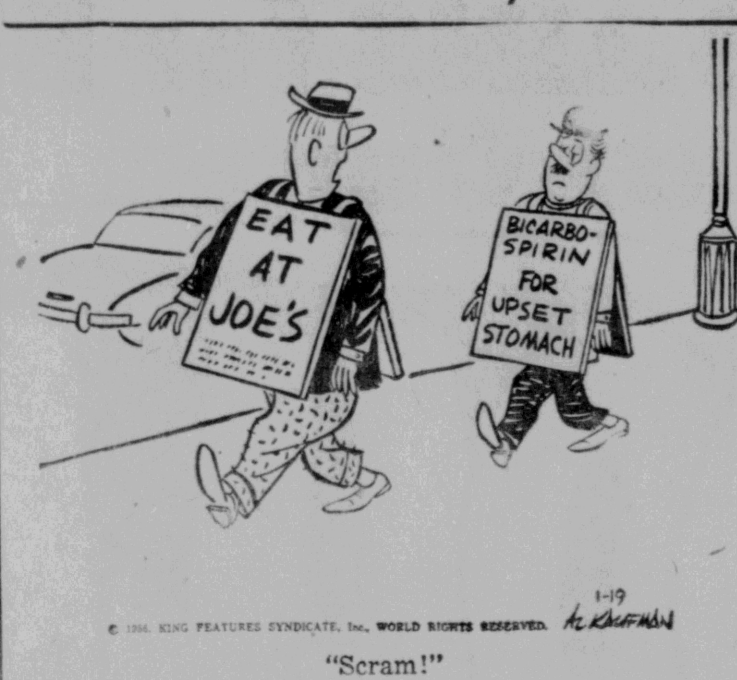

In the case of cotton, the same general plan would be followed.

To a good many people, including farmers, this idea has been talked about and is receiving some consideration. Whether it will become a part of a new agricultural policy, is a question. If we are to continue the price support system many people think that there is merit in this proposal.

It would tend to prevent the huge acreage farmers from flooding the markets and would be of benefit to the smaller farmers.

This idea may not be the final answer on farm problems, and might need considerable changing, but many of those studying the situation believe that the principle involved is a sound one; that it would work fairly for all and restore a better balance to the rural areas of the United States, something now very much in demand.

Reasons Are Many For Crying By Baby

By HERMAN N. BUNDESEN
Don't worry about your wailing infant. He won't cry forever; it only seems like forever.

Although most new born babies cry more than you think is necessary, they generally will quiet down and become happier by the age of six to ten weeks.

Several Reasons

A very young baby must cry. Nature gave him the power to wail for several reasons.

First of all, he must expand his lungs during the first few days of life. Then, too, crying is the baby's only means of communicating with you.

Of course he'll cry when he's hungry. Since he becomes hungry at irregular intervals, you shouldn't maintain a rigid feeding schedule. Regulation of a schedule on a four-hour basis usually isn't advisable until he's from six to ten weeks old.

Marilyn Monroe Unwanted

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (A)—Could Marilyn Monroe walk into the average American business office and land a job as a secretary?

No, siree, mister, she couldn't, not if you take the word of the nation's businessmen.

A survey of leading executives on what they look for in a secretary, made by Carl Ray, research vice president of the Underwood Corp., placed personal charm way down on the list of desirable attributes. As a matter of fact, it ranked seventh.

"Forty-six per cent of the bosses indicated they wanted initiative more than anything else in a secretary," Ray said.

Why don't they place a higher premium on glamour in hiring a lady typewriter jockey?

Ray conceded the executives were ruled partly by their fears—fear of what their wife would say, fear that a two-pretty secretary would distract the other office hands, but added:

"On a more positive basis, however, it's worth noting that secretaries today have to be executive assistants rather than just a plain old-fashioned secretary. What bosses really want is somebody who can mind the store while they're gone."

The sampling showed opinion

was divided on the question of whether single or married women make the best secretaries.

"Twenty-four per cent of the bosses stated a preference for single girls, 20 per cent preferred married secretaries, and the rest expressed no choice," Ray said.

One executive wrote, "The married woman is not concerned with whimsy and dating. She does a better job." Another philosophized thusly: "It's really not important. If a girl is single today, she'll get married eventually anyway."

After initiative, the employers rated secretarial virtues in this order: The ability to type quickly and accurately, the ability to file and find information speedily, a winning telephone manner, punctuality and personal neatness.

Many older secretaries have complained it is difficult for them to land a new job after 40, and almost impossible after 50. The poll showed considerable justification for their complaint.

None of the businessmen came out for bobby-soxers as secretaries. But 48 per cent said they preferred to hire a secretary "somewhere between 20 and 40 years old." Another 27 per cent stipulated she had to be between the ages of 30 and 40.

The magic age for a secretary today would seem to be 30.

"Right now I consider the ideal age to be between 25 and 35," wrote a New York sales executive. "But if I were 80 I might say the ideal age were 60, or maybe 20!"

What are the pet peeves of executives against their "favorite girl Friday?"

The chief sins of secretaries, the poll showed, are these: Some take too many coffee breaks; place too many personal phone calls at the office; take part in office gossip, or simply indulge in too much plain old feminine yakkyak.

But the biggest trouble with secretaries was voiced by an unhappy Los Angeles businessman who said:

"They quit."

None of the executives, of course, took a lie detector test or a truth serum. Therefore I rather doubt that if Marilyn Monroe showed up in any of their offices looking for a job she would be turned away empty-handed. The tired businessman isn't that tired.

Who Benefits Most By Marriage?

By George Sokolsky

Like all Americans, I read in the newspapers that Grace Kelly, of the Philadelphia Kellys, is to be married to Rainier Grimaldi, called "His Serene Highness," which may be the style in Europe but here everybody is just plain mister except a congressman who calls himself "honorable"—a word about which Shakespeare said the last word.

Some of my colleagues are trying to make a Cinderella story out of this but the facts reject the notion. Grimaldi gets less than $150,000 a year from the gambling joint at Monte Carlo. The gambling house brings in enough dough to cover all the expenses of Monaco, so the citizens pay no taxes. That makes the Prince very popular: A ny ruler is popular if the people pay no taxes.

Grace's father started as a bricklayer in Philadelphia. He saw his chance and eventually became a contractor and went into Democratic politics. Despite the fact that Philadelphia was then a Republican city, the combination was good and John B. Kelly cleaned up. He is now regarded as a very rich man, a prince of contractors. Grace makes a lot of money in Hollywood as a movie star. John B. Kelly once got the heave-ho from the British because he had laid bricks for a living, whereas Winston Churchill, when he had nothing to do, laid bricks for pleasure. Anyhow in Philadelphia and thereabouts, John B. Kelly is regarded as a gentleman and belongs to a country club. If Grace continues to make pictures, she can earn more than the Prince earns renting the gambling house at Monte Carlo.

So, there is no Cinderella, but just an American success story, and Mr. Grimaldi is doing very well by himself, marrying into the Philadelphia Kellys and we all wish them luck and hope they have a big family, so the decadent French do not grab off the gambling house which they have a contract to do provided there are no descendants.

Grimaldi comes from an Italian family from Genoa which is famous because there Christopher Columbus was born. The Grimaldis got jobs in Genoa and Monaco which was, in the middle ages, a good port for pirates. In the 14th century, Charles I, of the Grimaldi family, bought the claims of the Spinola family to Monaco. The Grimaldis generally were associated with France, but when it paid them, they switched around, Augustin Grimaldi in 1524 allying himself to Charles V. Honoré I, Augustin Grimaldi's successor, was made Marquis of Campagna and Count of Canosa and the family could tax ships that passed the port and they got other privileges. In 1641, they threw off the Spanish yoke and went back to the French yoke and the rulers of Monaco called themselves Dukes of Valentinois. They also strengthened themselves by marriages.

The French revolution hit the Grimaldis hard because France grabbed Monaco in 1793. However, the Grimaldis got the place back in 1814, and finally, in 1860, when Nice was transferred to France from Sardinia, the Grimaldis came under French protection. By the deal with France, the Prince of Monaco must always be a married man, which is just as well.

Monaco is a small place about eight square miles which is smaller than Philadelphia which is 129.7 square miles. In this eight square miles are three towns, Monaco, Condamine and Monte Carlo where the gambling house is situated. The place is beautiful, on the Mediterranean, and the weather is perfect.

The main industry is gambling the casino having been founded by Francois Blanc who, his hom burg concession ending, got one in Monte Carlo from Prince Charles III. It is now rented to a Greek.

So, I say, good luck to Mr. and Mrs. Grimaldi when they get that way, and may, to coin a phrase, their troubles be little ones.

Regular Meeting Of White Shrine Well Attended

The regular meeting of the Ralph R. Kah White Shrine was held Wednesday evening in the American Legion Hall, with a good attendance of members present.

Mrs. Helen Dunton, Worthy High Priestess, was the presiding officer, during which plans were made for a ceremonial to be held at the next regular meeting on February 15 which will be preceded by a covered dish dinner in the American Legion Hall.

During the social hour refreshments were served from a beautifully appointed tea table centered with a winter arrangement which carried out in a yellow and white color scheme, which is the shrine colors, and the forty-members present enjoyed informal visiting.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. John F. Dial, chairman, Miss Vera Veal, Mrs. Leona Booco and Mrs. Ethel McCreary.

The morning session at 9:30, will be devoted to youth work in the church and speakers will outline this work.

Following the luncheon hour, the afternoon meeting will feature as the main speaker, Dr. Dorothy Ferris of Punjab, India, who has been director of a hospital in India for the past twenty years and is now on furlough and her talk will be most interesting since the Presbyterian Churches in this locality support her in her medical mission work.

Chicken Prices On Down Grade

Most Pork and Beef
Also Takes Drop

(By The Associated Press)
Chickens for broiling or frying will be among bargain specials in many of the nation's food stores this weekend. Prices are down almost everywhere from two to six cents a pound.

Lower prices are the rule in many cities, too, for sirloin steak, beef rib roast, pork, lamb. Boneless chuck pot roast, chuck steak, boneless cross rib roast and fresh pork shoulders also occupy a prominent spot on the weekend special list.

A more abundant supply of young chickens is indicated for the weeks ahead. Last November, major commercial producers around the country hatched 65 million chicks, or about 25 per cent more than a year earlier, and in December they started 71 million chicks, or 44 per cent more than a year ago. Some of the November chicks are on market counters now and the bulk of the huge December crop will be in March.

There aren't so many outstanding buys in produce this week. Some of the more popular fruits and vegetables are no longer as plentiful as they were a few weeks ago, and a severe cold wave in Florida has had a tendency to push citrus prices up.

License for Dog

for Mrs. Hicks. And the training continues, as Duke and Mrs. Hicks become more familiar with each other.

Already Mrs. Hicks takes Duke's personality into consideration, knowing that the dog is unusually timid for a guide dog and will respond instantly to a soft-spoken command. And Duke will take Mrs. Hicks to at least one place simply at the command to take her there.

Mrs. Hicks is hopeful and happy, she indicated, in spite of her handicap. There is much to live for, she pointed out, referring especially to her daughter, two sons and a new grandson.

Her daughter, Mrs. Charlene Monroe of 420 South Main Street, presented Mrs. Hicks with the grandson 10 A. M. Sunday. Mrs. Hicks has a son, Blanchard Earl, 17, now in Ft. Leonard Wood, Mo with the Army.

And at home she has Joseph, 4. Plans and dreams make up a good part of Mrs. Hicks conversation.

She is planning to write a book soon, discussing her loss of sight. She hopes to start a mission here, to aid the poorer families in the area and especially to help young people.

A member of the South Side Church of Christ, a strong faith is also evident in her conversation. She recalls 28 years ago when she lost her sight in an accident, and her mother's words, "God is for you. Who can be against you?"

She has never forgotten her mother's words, she said. Bead soap is made by spraying the soap mixture into a drying tower so that tiny balls, or beads, of soap are formed.

Kids Have Fun at Cherry Hill School

YOUNGSTERS HAVE FLOCKED TO USE the coasting slope in the city, the one on the grounds of the Cherry Hill School. More than a score of youngsters have been using it daily since the snow fell, and motorists passing on Oakland Avenue have had to keep a sharp lookout for kids rocketing by. These boys and girls were skidding down the hill Wednesday afternoon after school let out. The boy in the left foreground is aboard something new in the way of sleds—it's a round plastic gadget that gives a spinning, seesaw ride.

Ohio Bankers Will Meet February 22

Several bankers here are expected to be among the more than 800 bankers from every section of Ohio who take advantage of the Feb. 22 holiday to participate in the annual mid-winter meeting of the Ohio Bankers Association. The event is scheduled to be held at the Neil House in Columbus.

While the meeting itself will take only the afternoon of February 22nd, a series of other events, beginning on February 21st, will occupy the attention of many of the visiting bankers and officers of the state organization.

Chief speaker on the program will be Fred F. Florence, President of the American Bankers Association, and president of the Republic National Bank of Dallas, Texas. Florence plans to review the major current developments and problems in the field of bank## ing nationwide, particularly as they pertain to banking in the middle west.

On the morning of February 22, a special breakfast session will be held by the Ohio Bankers Association for key bankers from each of the state's 88 counties for the purpose of discussing a number of specific association projects.

Earl Artis Trial Is Now Under Way

The income tax evasion trial of Earl Artis of Xenia, who is claimed to have been engaged in "the numbers business" and owes back taxes to the government amounting to $54,041.62 for 1948 and 1950, is now under way in the U. S. District Court at Dayton.

It is estimated the hearing may require several weeks, and the government has called 90 persons to testify against Artis.

The case is being heard before Judge Lester L. Cecil and a jury. Artis has retained Karlman A. Goldring, of Pittsburgh and Sidney Kushworm, Sr.

Artis stated that he has no regular job but assists his wife in raising parakeets. He was indicted by the Federal Grand Jury last April.

Company M Is Rated Superior

Earn 1 'Excellent' In Ordinance Check

Company M received word today that the National Guard outfit here has received a rating of "superior" on the recent ordinance inspection. This is the second year in a row Company M has received the top rating in the annual inspection.

The inspection was conducted by a Second Army technical inspector. Superior ratings were given on small arms, mounts and instruments and an excellent rating was given on vehicles.

Just one deficiency lowers the rating from superior to excellent. The company received pay for the last three months duty, totaling $5,510.13. The company brings roughly $70,000 to $75,000 a year in to Fayette County, according to Chief Warrant Officer Robert Goodson.

That figure, an estimate, is made up mostly of salaries for the full-time employees at the Armory and pay for the part-time soldiers who make up the bulk of the Guard unit strength.

Added to the salaries are such items as supplies and repair and maintenance on the building.

GOODSON said that under the new table of organization there are vacancies for veterans for master sergeants, sergeants first class, sergeants, corporals and specialists E-5 and E-4. Of 64 non-commissioned officers positions under the new schedule, only 43 are filled.

Veterans may re-enlist in the grade held at the time of discharge, provided they are otherwise qualified, he said.

Donald J. Fox, a Washington C.

Ist High School student, has enlisted in the unit. He has been assigned to Company M basic and will be assigned to the anti-tank platoon after basic training.

Sgt. Stanley L. Boyssel of Washington C. H. has extended his one year enlistment to three years. Sgt. Boyssel serves as squad leader in the 81 mm. mortar platoon. He has been with the company for five years and is a house builder by trade.

Kids Have Fun at Cherry Hill School

YOUNGSTERS HAVE FLOCKED TO USE the coasting slope in the city, the one on the grounds of the Cherry Hill School. More than a score of youngsters have been using it daily since the snow fell, and motorists passing on Oakland Avenue have had to keep a sharp lookout for kids rocketing by. These boys and girls were skidding down the hill Wednesday afternoon after school let out. The boy in the left foreground is aboard something new in the way of sleds—it's a round plastic gadget that gives a spinning, seesaw ride. (Record-Herald photo)

Ohio Bankers Will Meet February 22

Several bankers here are expected to be among the more than 800 bankers from every section of Ohio who take advantage of the Feb. 22 holiday to participate in the annual mid-winter meeting of the Ohio Bankers Association. The event is scheduled to be held at the Neil House in Columbus.

While the meeting itself will take only the afternoon of February 22nd, a series of other events, beginning on February 21st, will occupy the attention of many of the visiting bankers and officers of the state organization.

Chief speaker on the program will be Fred F. Florence, President of the American Bankers Association, and president of the Republic National Bank of Dallas, Texas. Florence plans to review the major current developments and problems in the field of banking nationwide, particularly as they pertain to banking in the middle west.

On the morning of February 22, a special breakfast session will be held by the Ohio Bankers Association for key bankers from each of the state's 88 counties for the purpose of discussing a number of specific association projects.

Earl Artis Trial Is Now Under Way

The income tax evasion trial of Earl Artis of Xenia, who is claimed to have been engaged in "the numbers business" and owes back taxes to the government amounting to $54,041.62 for 1948 and 1950, is now under way in the U. S. District Court at Dayton.

It is estimated the hearing may require several weeks, and the government has called 90 persons to testify against Artis.

The case is being heard before Judge Lester L. Cecil and a jury. Artis has retained Karlman A. Goldring, of Pittsburgh and Sidney Kushworm, Sr.

Artis stated that he has no regular job but assists his wife in raising parakeets. He was indicted by the Federal Grand Jury last April.

Company M Is Rated Superior

Earn 1 'Excellent' In Ordnance Check

Company M received word today that the National Guard outfit here has received a rating of "superior" on the recent ordnance inspection. This is the second year in a row Company M has received the top rating in the annual inspection.

The inspection was conducted by a Second Army technical inspector. Superior ratings were given on small arms, mounts and instruments and an excellent rating was given on vehicles.

Just one deficiency lowers the rating from superior to excellent. The company received pay for the last three months duty, totaling $5,310.13.

The company brings roughly $70,000 to $75,000 a year in to Fayette County, according to Chief Warrant Officer Robert Goodson.

That figure, an estimate, is made up mostly of salaries for the full-time employees at the Armory and pay for the part-time soldiers who make up the bulk of the Guard unit strength.

Added to the salaries are such items as supplies and repair and maintenance on the building.

GOODSON said that under the new table of organization there are vacancies for veterans for master sergeants, sergeants first class, sergeants, corporals and specialists E-5 and E-4. Of 64 non-commissioned officers positions under the new schedule, only 43 are filled.

Veterans may re-enlist in the grade held at the time of discharge, provided they are otherwise qualified, he said.

Donald J. Fox, a Washington C.

H. High School student, has enlisted in the unit. He has been assigned to Company M basic and will be assigned to the anti-tank platoon after basic training.

Sgt. Stanley L. Boyssel of Washington C. H. has extended his one year enlistment to three years. Sgt. Boyssel serves as squad leader in the 81 mm. mortar platoon. He has been with the company for five years and is a house builder by trade.

Sgt. Richard A. Haines, a section leader in the 81 mm. mortar platoon, has re-enlisted for one year. A member of Company M for four years, he is employed by the National Cash Register Co. here.

FHA To Try Unload Houses Built For Waverly Workers

COLUMBUS (AP) — The Federal Housing Administration has learned that it is getting the deeds to between 700 and 800 homes in Waverly, Pike County—just about all the houses built there for workers at the Atomic Energy Commission plant.

Forest Smith, regional FHA director, said his office will try to sell the homes at a price that will cover what the builders owe the government.

"But Washington may decide to sell them at a very much lower cost, just to get rid of them," he said.

The homes were among 1500 built in Pike, Jackson, Scioto and Ross Counties for defense workers with loans guaranteed by the government.

Most of the Waverly homes were never sold, said Smith, even after the FHA told the builders they could sell to anybody, defense workers or not. In the absence of buyers, some of the houses were rented, but many have never been occupied.

Previously the FHA acquired deeds to 11 houses in Jackson containing 144 living units. The local office recommended sale and rental prices, but no approval has been received. The rest of the FHA-approved homes in Portsmouth and Chillicothe are being sold or rented so that the builders have been able to keep up their payments.

Smith explained that the Federal National Mortgage Assn. in Chicago, a government agency, loaned from 90 to 95 per cent of the cost of the houses to the builders. If the houses had been sold the mortgages would then have been sold to private investors, although still guaranteed by the government.

But as default notices came in, it appeared evident that too many homes had been built in Waverly and builders had a choice of going through foreclosure proceedings or just giving up the homes and their entire investment. They chose to turn over the deeds.

Smith said his office may accept bids at the set price or above, but a bid at a lower price, at which the government will lose money, may be approved only in Washington.

Your School Report Card

By W. A. SMITH
(City School Superintendent)

Establishing a card filing system for their room library was the project selected by the sixth grade Citizenship Club of Cherry Hill at the meeting last Friday.

New officers for the coming six weeks' period were also selected. Linda Lucas was chosen captain; Sally Jo Loudner, first lieutenant; Billy Halliday, second lieutenant; and Lana Sue Paul, secretary.

The making of a complete church chart was assigned to Billy Halliday and Damon Baker.

March 9 was set as a tentative date for the sixth grade's class night, and some plans were discussed in connection with that event.

Mrs. Kathleen Scott, high school librarian, will talk with the students in connection with their library filing system. She will give a simple explanation of the Dewey Decimal System of Classification. The card system to be set up by the Citizenship Club members will contain the name of the book, author's name, and a brief synopsis of the book. Mrs. Joe Loudner donated the filing box.

Considering the number of books in the room library, it will take these youngsters quite a long time to complete their worthwhile project.

Other parts of the program conducted at the meeting included the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" under the leadership of Sally Jo Loudner; reading of a poem, "The American Flag," by Juliana Wilson; and the repeating of the Golden Rule by Hannah Case.

Linda Lucas presided at the meeting. Earl Miller, principal of Cherry Hill School, is the club's sponsor.

Scheduled For Feb. 2

Fayette County horsemen are again beginning to make plans for the annual banquet. It will be held Monday Feb. 6 at the Country Club as usual.

Harold (Babe) Maddux is the general chairman of the committee arranging for the event. Maddux made it clear that everyone interested in the sport of harness racing is invited to attend.

As in the past no invitations will be mailed out to fans here but those desiring to purchase tickets may do so from Maddux or from the horsemen.

No special program has been arranged following the dinner, but John Sagar will serve as the master of ceremonies and will introduce the out of town guests.

In summing up plans for this seventh annual banquet Maddux said "it's just a good opportunity for harness horse fans to come out, enjoy a good banquet and spend the evening talking about America's fastest growing sport."

Ohio High Court Allows Will Stand

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Supreme Court has refused to disturb decisions of Seneca County Courts upholding validity of the will of Walter Yockum who died in 1947.

The will was challenged by Jessie E. Gottfried of Upper Sandusky, a relative, in a suit filed against Simon P. Yockum of Fostoria and other relatives.

New Alcometer Applies Pressure

Few Drunk Drivers To Escape Now

Last year, a number of drivers who were rounded up on suspicion of driving while drunk were given their freedom because the officers could not produce satisfactory evidence of their condition.

However, in the face of the number turned loose, 84 drivers who were arrested by the police and charged of driving while drunk filed against them, were convicted. In nearly every instance they were fined $200 and costs and given 10 days in jail. Nearly all of them also were suspended from driving for one year.

The 84 convictions last year were 44 more than the previous year, while in 1953 the number of convictions was 62.

With the new Alcometer to test every suspected drunken driver, and plain drunks if necessary, it is expected that no one guilty of driving while drunk will escape the test given with the Alcometer.

The Alcometer has been accepted by courts as reliable in giving the correct percentage of alcohol in the blood of the accused and reflecting their degree of intoxication.

More than 200 species of birds have been identified at one time or another in Yellowstone Park.

A rattlesnake may shed its skin one to three times a year, depending on its food supply and living conditions.

Warriors Are Trowned By Jefferson Twp. Team

Madison Mills High School basketball squad was kept guessing Wednesday night, at the loss of one ball game to visiting Jefferson Township. Jefferson romped, 85 to 66.

Part of the Warriors' difficulties were with a pair of twins on the Jefferson team, Melvin and Marvin Chamberlain. Melvin usually scores about 25 points per game. Marvin averages five to ten.

According to the numbers on the jerseys, it was Marvin who scored most in this game, 28 points. And the boy identified by jersey number as Melvin tossed in five points worth of baskets.

Jefferson Twp. started off with a four-point 19-15 lead in the first quarter and built it up to a 16-point lead at the half.

This gives the Madison Mills squad a record of two wins and eight losses for the season. In Fayette County League play they have lost three games.

Friday the Mills Warriors are to play at Bloomingburg. The Bloomingburg boys stand third in the county league.

In the Reserve game, Madison Mills beat Jefferson Twp. 52 to 50 in the second overtime period.

The Jefferson coach made the mistake of pulling out four of his first-string Reserves in the last three regular minutes of the game,

Crucial Game At Jeff Friday

First Two Teams
In Loop To Meet

All four of the Fayette County League teams will be in action Friday night in two important league games and New Holland's Bulldogs, who live almost astraddle the Fayette-Pickaway County line, will be playing in a Pickaway County League game at Darby.

On paper, the Bloomingburg boys have a slight edge in their game with the Madison Mills Warriors. The Bulldogs have won one league game and lost three while the Warriors have lost three and won none. But, despite this, the Warriors can not be sneaked off lightly, because they have played some hang-up ball (as the scores support) while losing.

The important game, however, will be the one at Jeffersonville. It could go a long way toward determining the league champion.

The Mad Antonies are unbeaten in league play and are at the top of the standing. The Tigers are in second place with two league victories and one defeat; that one Tiger defeat was at the hands of the Mad Antonies, whom they meet Friday night.

The New Hollanders will take a record of 6 wins and 7 losses with them to Darby. After losing four in a row, the Bulldogs are hoping to break the jinx at Darby.

Only two of the county teams have games booked for next Tuesday: Mt. Sterling's Greyhounds are to go to Bloomingburg and the boys from Chillicothe Central Catholic are to play at Good Hope.

The Washington C. H. junior high squad added another victory to its record, romping over boys from Bloomingburg 42 to 16 Wednesday afternoon at the Washington C. H. court. Ronnie Carter sparked the play, scoring 16 points in the game.

This was the fifth victory for the Lion Cubs, with just one loss—Greenfield—on the team's record. A game is scheduled between the Cubs and Hillsboro Junior High for Thursday afternoon.

Fred Domenico is the squad's coach.

Sam Coule exercises horses for Brookmeade Stable at Hieslah in the morning, paints or writes articles on horses in his spare time and parks cars at Florida tracks in the afternoon.

"IT'S SO EASY TO PLACE A WANT AD."

Detroit Franchise To Sell Cautiously

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Tigers' franchise, considered one of the finest in baseball, remains up for sale, but President Spike Briggs said today it won't necessarily go to the highest bidder.

Nor is it essential that the club must be sold by a fixed date.

"A lot of people think that whoever makes the highest bid will get the Tigers," Briggs said. "That's not so. There are other factors to be considered—factors which we trustees of the Tigers consider important."

"We don't want to sell out to some money-mad people who will milk the franchise dry in two or three years, make a big profit and then pull out, leaving a depleted ball park and nine old men on the field."

Suggs Is Favored In Tampa Tourney

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—A field of 121 began play today for the Tampa Women's Open Golf Tournament championship left undefended by Babe Zaharias, hospitalized in Texas for treatment of cancer.

The logical successor to the Babe as the favorite is Louise Suggs, who won the $5,000 event twice and was only a stroke behind last year.

Lions, Indians To Meet Friday

Greenfield Tigers
To Go To Wilmington

The Lion cagers of Washington C. H. High School, riding high on a 5-game victory wave, will entertain Hillsboro's Indians here Friday night and then take a long lay-off until Feb. 3 when they are to go to Circleville to tangle with the Tigers.

The Lions, currently tied with Wilmington's Hurricane at the top of the SCO League with 3 wins and one defeat apiece, edged the Indians, 55-49, when they met at Hillsboro. The Lions also hold a victory over the Circleville outfit; they beat the Tigers 54-43 when they met here Dec. 16.

The Lions scored 710 points while holding their opponents to 672 in the 12 games they have played to date. They have lost only three games, but they lost them by wide margins. In their three losing games, the Lions scored 161 points while their conquerors tallied 229, an average margin of 22.6 points per game, due mainly to the 82-44 defeat handed them by Canton McKinley and the 83-63 beating administered to them by the Hurricane.

In their nine games they won, the Lions scored 549 points to 443 by their opponents. That gives the Lions a victory margin of 11.7 points in these games.

Up until a week ago, it looked like the Hurricane was a cinch to take the SCO title for the second year in a row; then Circleville's Tigers stepped in and changed all that with a stunning 73-68 upset.

That dropped the Hurricane into a tie with the Lions for the league lead and focused increasing interest on the Hurricane game with Greenfield's Tigers at Wilmington Friday night.

But the two big games in the SCO will come Jan. 27 when the Circleville boys go to Wilmington for a return game and on Feb. 14 when the Hurricane comes to Washington C. H. to tangle with the Lions.

The Lucasville cagers are to go to Circleville Saturday night and may catch the Tigers on the rebound after a 64-52 drubbing handed them Tuesday by the Panthers at Linden-McKinley.

Next Tuesday, Chillicothe's Cavaliers are to go to Circleville to take on the Tigers and that same night Franklin's basketballers will be playing at Wilmington.

This week comes to an end with two SCO games Friday—Hillsboro at Washington C. H. and Greenfield at Wilmington—and a non-league game for Circleville, the other league member, with the boys from Lucasville.

Lakers Continue Drive In Pro Loop

NEW YORK (AP)—The rampaging Minneapolis Lakers continued their drive toward first place in the western division of the National Basketball Assn. last night by defeating the Philadelphia Warriors, 105-94.

It was their 8th victory in their last 10 starts.

The victory, however, didn't improve their position in the scrap with Rochester for second place in the division as the Royals beat the New York Knicks, 108-103.

Both gained on the division leading Fort Wayne Pistons, who dropped a 95-90 decision to Boston.

Paces Cage Scorers

NEW YORK (AP)—Darrell Floyd of Furman, last season's college basketball scoring leader, again is setting the pace at the season's halfway mark this year. But Robin Freeman of Ohio State is making it a close race.

NCAA statistics showed today that Floyd had piled up 370 points in 11 games through last Saturday for an average of 33.6 points a game. Freeman, in the same number of games, had scored 367 for an average of 33.4.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE — Here's how to work it:

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Mad Dog Killer Escapes From Jail in Indiana

PRINCETON, Ind. (AP) — Leslie Irvin, 31, Evansville "mad dog killer" under death sentence for the slaying of a filling station attendant and accused of five other murders, escaped last night from Gibson County jail here.

Sheriff Earl Hollen said Irvin "had to have keys" and "there had to be some outside help." He said Irvin was first missed at breakfast this morning when the outside door of the jail was found open.

Hollen said Irvin's cellmate, Lawrence Bryant, also an accused murderer, stayed behind and "doesn't know anything."

The sheriff said Irvin's brother and the brother's wife visited him in jail Tuesday.

Irvin was convicted Dec. 20 of the 1954 robbery-slaying of 30-year-old W. Wesley Kerr in an Evansville filling station.

Irvin also is under indictment in the slaying of a Posey County housewife, a woman Evansville liquor store operator and three members of a Kentucky family.

MOST OF IRVIN'S trial, which continued from Nov. 14 to Dec. 20, was spent in lawyers' arguments over choosing a jury.

The prosecution called Irvin a "mad dog killer," and the jury deliberated only an hour and a half before convicting him on a first-degree murder charge and recommended the death penalty.

Indictments in five of the six deaths charged to Irvin came quickly after his arrest April 8 while working as a pipefitter on a Yanketown construction project.

The series of killings goes back to Dec. 2, 1954, when Mrs. Mary Holland was shot through the head in a restroom of her east side liquor store in Evansville.

Wesley Kerr was also shot through the head in the Evansville filling station where he worked Dec. 23, 1954. Testimony at the trial indicated Irvin had chatted with Kerr, a friend, several hours before the robbery-killing.

The loot in the liquor store was $130; in the filling station $68.

The series of killings continued March 21, 1955, in a 50-cent robbery-killing of Mrs. Wilhelmina Sailer in her Posey County home west of Evansville.

Col. Merz graduated from Washington High School in 1939 and entered the service as soon as he was 18 years of age.

After his training was over he entered officers candidate school at Augusta, Ga.

Just one week later, Goebel Duncan, 53; his son, Raymond, 20, and another son's wife, Mrs. Dorris Ray Duncan, 19, were shot through the head near Henderson, Ky. The loot in that killing was only $1.

In Kentucky, Henderson County Sheriff Lee Williams said today that Irvin is more dangerous now than ever and unless captured or killed right away he will kill at least three more persons.

Sheriff Williams' entire force of deputies and all state police in Western Kentucky were out today patrolling highways covered by a 7-inch snowfall.

The sheriff expressed belief Irvin would never be taken alive. The sheriff did not reveal the names of those he expected Irvin to attempt to kill.

Looting Rioters Surging Into Bombay Area

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Thousands of looting rioters surged through a 15-square-mile area of Bombay today, continuing a bloody four-day outburst of violence and terror.

Sources at the central government's home ministry in New Delhi said six persons were reported killed in the renewal of the riots this morning. The ministry said a total of 37 persons had been killed in the disorders.

Officials said they believed the Communists were trying to set up a "parallel government" under cover of the rioting. Leftwing strongarm men were reported infiltrating the demonstrations from the Satara district. A "parallel government" was set up in that district during the 1942 nationalist outbreaks against British rule.

Responsible citizens made ready to defend this city. S. K. Patil, Bombay leader of the ruling Congress party, announced a "peace brigade" of armed citizens would be organized to help the police combat the flaring outbreaks.

OBSERVERS said the continuing outburst was the most serious in recent Indian history.

Operating in gangs, the rioters spread havoc over a wide area in this second largest city in India. One report said a group of citizens fought a pitched battle at noon with a mob near Bombay's central railway station.

The disorders broke out Monday in protest of the Nehru government's plan to reorganize the Indian states along language lines. This would make Bombay city a separate state under the direct administration of New Delhi. Leaders of the rioters demand that the city be the capital of a separate state of Marathi-speaking peoples.

A police post was burned before dawn as a curfew failed to halt the violence. Police poured in from outlying districts to relieve local officers who had fought the outbreaks for 72 hours but the violence spread rapidly.

Indian army troops were called out to guard strategic electric and water power installations but they had not intervened so far to help restore order because city officials had not requested it.

The biggest concerted attack came last night in the Sewri slum area, where hundreds of Marathi-speaking Indians battled police. Crowds of demonstrators opened simultaneous attacks at 10 p. m. and police said they opened fire each time.

Marathi-language groups make up about half of Bombay's nearly three million population. The other major language is Gujarati.

In New Delhi, a government spokesman said federal authorities were helpless to move in unless Bombay authorities asked aid.

County Snowbound

had plowed the main roads and were working on some of the back roads by noon.

Twenty-odd Fayette County road crew men have been working since 7:30 A. M. Thursday, according to county engineer Charles P. Wagner. All county equipment was out, totalling eight snow plows, two graders and two salt trucks for the vital and slippery points.

Washington C. H. crews were hauling snow away, trying to keep clear the important intersections and spots in the city, like the police and fire stations.

Taxpayers in Washington C. H. were reminded that the snow-clearing duties of the street crew men won't cost extra. The crew is being transferred from one job to another, but the cost remains the same.

All county schools were closed by their respective principals Thursday morning, according to the county school superintendent, W. J. Hilty. In Washington C. H. attendance was considered "fairly normal" by Supt. W. A. Smith.

Only 11 percent of the 1,066 high school students in the city were not in school Thursday morning. That number — 127 students — was comprised mostly of students from outlying areas.

In the city's elementary schools 109 out of 1,258 were absent, a little under 10 percent, which is considered pretty close to the standard absentee percentage regardless of weather.

Mad Dog Killer Escapes From Jail in Indiana

PRINCETON, Ind. (AP) — Leslie Irvin, 31, Evansville "mad dog killer" under death sentence for the slaying of a filling station attendant and accused of five other murders, escaped last night from Gibson County jail here.

Sheriff Earl Hollen said Irvin "had to have keys" and "there had to be some outside help." He said Irvin was first missed at breakfast this morning when the outside door of the jail was found open.

Hollen said Irvin's cellmate, Lawrence Bryant, also an accused murderer, stayed behind and "doesn't know anything."

The sheriff said Irvin's brother and the brother's wife visited him in jail Tuesday.

Irvin was convicted Dec. 20 of the 1954 robbery-slaying of 30-year-old W. Wesley Kerr in an Evansville filling station.

Irvin also is under indictment in the slaying of a Posey County housewife, a woman Evansville liquor store operator and three members of a Kentucky family.

MOST OF IRVIN'S trial, which continued from Nov. 14 to Dec. 20, was spent in lawyers' arguments over choosing a jury.

The prosecution called Irvin a "mad dog killer," and the jury deliberated only an hour and a half before convicting him on a first-degree murder charge and recommended the death penalty.

Indictments in five of the six deaths charged to Irvin came quickly after his arrest April 8 while working as a pipefitter on a Yanketown construction project.

The series of killings goes back to Dec. 2, 1954, when Mrs. Mary Holland was shot through the head in a restroom of her east side liquor store in Evansville.

Wesley Kerr was also shot through the head in the Evansville filling station where he worked Dec. 23, 1954. Testimony at the trial indicated Irvin had chatted with Kerr, a friend, several hours before the robbery-killing.

The loot in the liquor store was $150; in the filling station $68.

The series of killings continued March 21, 1955, in a 50-cent robbery-killing of Mrs. Wilhelmina Sailer in her Posey County home west of Evansville.

Just one week later, Goebel Duncan, 53; his son, Raymond, 20, and another son's wife, Mrs. Dorris Ray Duncan, 19, were shot through the head near Henderson, Ky. The loot in that killing was only $1.

In Kentucky, Henderson County Sheriff Lee Williams said today that Irvin is more dangerous now than ever and unless captured or killed right away he will kill at least three more persons.

Sheriff Williams' entire force of deputies and all state police in Western Kentucky were out today patrolling highways covered by a 7-inch snowfall.

The sheriff expressed belief Irvin would never be taken alive. The sheriff did not reveal the names of those he expected Irvin to attempt to kill.

Looting Rioters Surging Into Bombay Area

BOMBAY, India (AP)—Thousands of looting rioters surged through a 15-square-mile area of Bombay today, continuing a bloody four-day outburst of violence and terror.

Sources at the central government's home ministry in New Delhi said six persons were reported killed in the renewal of the riots this morning. The ministry said a total of 37 persons had been killed in the disorders.

Officials said they believed the Communists were trying to set up a "parallel government" under cover of the rioting. Leftwing strongarm men were reported infiltrating the demonstrations from the Satura district. A "parallel government" was set up in that district during the 1942 nationalist outbreaks against British rule.

Responsible citizens made ready to defend this city. S. K. Patil, Bombay leader of the ruling Congress party, announced a "peace brigade" of armed citizens would be organized to help the police combat the flaring outbreaks.

OBSERVERS said the continuing outburst was the most serious in recent Indian history.

Operating in gangs, the rioters spread havoc over a wide area in this second largest city in India. One report said a group of citizens fought a pitched battle at noon with a mob near Bombay's central railway station.

The disorders broke out Monday in protest of the Nehru government's plan to reorganize the Indian states along language lines. This would make Bombay city a separate small state under the direct administration of New Delhi. Leaders of the rioters demand that the city be the capital of a separate state of Marathi-speaking peoples.

A police post was burned before dawn as a curfew failed to halt the violence. Police poured in from outlying districts to relieve local officers who had fought the outbreaks for 72 hours but the violence spread rapidly.

Indian army troops were called out to guard strategic electric and water power installations but they had not intervened so far to help restore order because city officials had not requested it.

The biggest concerted attack came last night in the Sewri slum area, where hundreds of Marathi-speaking Indians battled police. Crowds of demonstrators opened simultaneous attacks at 10 p. m. and police said they opened fire each time.

Marathi-language groups make up about half of Bombay's nearly three million population. The other major language is Gujarati.

In New Delhi, a government spokesman said federal authorities were helpless to move in unless Bombay authorities asked aid.

County Snowbound

had plowed the main roads and were working on some of the back roads by noon.

Twenty-odd Fayette County road crew men have been working since 7:30 A. M. Thursday, according to county engineer Charles P. Wagner. All county equipment was out, totaling eight snow plows, two graders and two salt trucks for the vital and slippery points.

Washington C. H. crews were hauling snow away, trying to keep clear the important intersections and spots in the city, like the police and fire stations.

Taxpayers in Washington C. H. were reminded that the snow-cleaning duties of the street crew men won't cost extra. The crew is being transferred from one job to another, but the cost remains the same.

All county schools were closed by their respective principals Thursday morning, according to the county school superintendent, W. J. Hilty. In Washington C. H. attendance was considered "fairly normal" by Supt. W. A. Smith.

Only 11 percent of the 1,066 high school students in the city were not in school Thursday morning. That number — 127 students — was comprised mostly of students from outlying areas.

In the city's elementary schools 109 out of 1,258 were absent, a little under 10 percent, which is considered pretty close to the standard absentee percentage regardless of weather.
